

UNIVERSITATEA "VASILE ALECSANDRI" DIN BACĂU

FACULTATEA DE LITERE

REGISTERS AND STYLES
OF
ENGLISH LANGUAGE

NADIA NICOLETA
MORĂRAȘU

Editura ALMA MATER – BACĂU
2014

CONTENTS

1. CONCEPTUAL DELIMITATIONS	7
1.1. Factors determining language use	7
1.2. Variation	7
1.2.1. Linguistic variation	7
1.2.2. Stylistic variation	9
1.3. Varieties	10
1.3.1. Text varieties	10
1.3.1.1. Perspectives on text varieties	11
1.3.2. Social varieties of English	14
1.3.2.1. Sources of variation	14
2. PERSPECTIVES ON LINGUISTIC REGISTERS	17
2.1. Register definitions and theories	17
2.2. Register characteristics	17
2.3. Types of registers	18
2.4. A functional perspective on register analysis	19
2.4.1. Metafunctions of language and register variables	19
2.4.2. The analysis of register as a functional variety of text	20
3. AN APPLIED LINGUISTIC ANALYTICAL FRAMEWORK	23
3.1. Registers and register analysis: an overview	23
3.2. Describing the situational characteristics of register	24
3.2.1. A framework for situational analysis	34
3.3. Analysing linguistic features and their functions	34
4. REGISTER vs. STYLE AND DIALECT	34
4.1. Defining styles	34
4.1.1. Classification of functional styles	34
4.2. Dialect studies	36
4.2.1. Register variation and dialect variation	37
4.2.2. Idiolects	37
5. LEVELS OF FORMALITY AND LANGUAGE STYLES	39
5.1. The category of formality	39
5.2. Degrees of formality	40
5.3. Russell's language styles	41

5.3.1. The ultra-formal style	42
5.3.2. The formal style	42
5.3.3. The modified formal style	42
5.3.4. The colloquial style	43
5.3.5. The ultra-colloquial style	43
5.4. Conversational styles	44
5.4.1. The frozen style	45
5.4.2. The formal style	45
5.4.3. The consultative style	46
5.4.4. The casual style	46
5.4.5. The intimate style	47
6. SOCIOLINGUISTIC ASPECTS OF SLANG AND ARGOT	50
6.1. Slang	50
6.1.1. Defining slang	50
6.1.2. Slang characteristics	50
6.1.2.1. General characteristics	50
6.1.2.2. Sociological properties	51
6.1.2.3. Linguistic and situational features of English slang	51
6.1.3. Slang typology	53
6.1.3.1. Rhyming slang	53
6.1.3.2. Back slang	54
6.1.3.3. Pig Latin	54
6.1.3.4. Special slang	54
6.2. Argot	56
6.3. Bottom-heavy semantic fields	57
7. SPECIALIZED/ PROFESSIONAL REGISTERS	62
7.1. Definitions and characteristics of jargon	62
7.2. Variable modes of using language based on social structure	63
7.2.1. Legalese	64
7.2.2. Technicalese	66
7.2.3. Officialese	66
7.2.4. News style/journales	68
7.2.4.1. Quality vs. popular press	68
7.2.4.2. Newspaper writing vs. academic prose	69
8. NEW REGISTERS	73
8.1. E-registers	73
8.1.1. General characteristics	73
8.1.2. Situational features of individual e-mail messages	74

8.1.3. Linguistic and situational features of online postings	76
8.1.3.1. Common features of blogs and forums	76
8.1.3.2. Blogs vs. forums	77
ANNEX 1 – Essays on text types and registers	79
ANNEX 2 – Exercises in style	98
ANNEX 3 – Language use and formality styles	106
ANNEX 4 – Samples of register analysis	110
Lăcrămioara Ilieș (Filip) (LEPC II, 2010), A register analysis of teen talk	110
Cristina Pintili (LEPC II, 2011), Slang features of the Hollywood Bank Robbery song	117
Alexandra Ilie (LEPC II 2012), A register perspective on travel brochures	122
Mihaela Timofte (LEPC II 2013), A situational analysis of self-help text varieties	125
BIBLIOGRAPHY	133